OKLAHOMA CITY, OK, March 11, 2021 – Capital Distributing, LLC., an Oklahoma City-based, locally-owned beverage distributor, and its supplier partner, Essentia Water, LLC., have joined forces to donate a truckload of Essentia water to Integris Baptist Health Center, Mercy Hospital and Norman Regional Hospital for the benefit and recognition of the thousands of local frontline healthcare workers who have been on the front lines caring for and supporting the OKC area throughout the pandemic. The two companies made the donation this afternoon.

“The Capital Distributing family is honored to join forces with Essentia Water to make this donation, and to extend our thanks and appreciation to Oklahoma’s fantastic and dedicated healthcare professionals at Integris, Mercy and Norman Regional,” said Gordon Green, Capital Distributing, LLC President and General Manager. “During the past year, the Oklahoma healthcare community has played a crucial role and they deserve to be recognized. Today’s donation is just a small way that Capital Distributing and Essentia Water can demonstrate our thanks and appreciation.”

Capital Distributing, LLC was founded in 2001 upon the merger of City Beverage (Miller) and Coors Distributing Company (CDC). Capital Distributing employs over 200 Oklahomans and is a member of the Beer Distributors of Oklahoma, an 83-year-old advocacy organization representing the interests of Oklahoma’s independent beer distributors.

Essentia Water, LLC is the producer of the first ionized alkaline bottled water in the United States. Essentia’s philosophy is that a better you starts with a better water. Headquartered in Bothell, Washington, Essentia pioneered ionized water in 1998 and is known for its unique ionization process. The brand is now distributed in nearly 90,000 retailers across the United States.
